TRESTLEBOARD
March 2023

From the East:

Greetings from the East!

As the final month of winter finally approaches and daylight gets longer, I'm reminded of the perpetual aspects of time in Freemasonry; Each degree, for me, is that phase of lessons being passed, reflected upon, and then performed in our daily lives.

The month of March always seems to remind me of that continual balance, from minimal daylight to the sun being at meridian height, continuing its journey.

Thank you to all the Brothers who attended this year's Grand Lodge Statewide Training Day; it was beyond informative, recharging, and a beautiful reminder of all the great work we do as a whole.

Cornerstone will welcome W.B. David Tate, President of the Philaethes Society, who will give a presentation on philosophy and sacred geometry from a Masonic perspective at this month's stated.

We're also excited to announce and welcome Damian Mulenson, our new cook for this year. He provided a delicious dinner last month that was quite exquisite! I look forward to seeing what's on his menu!

I would like to end by celebrating a birthday and quoting a brother of inspiration.

"The world is a school." We are here to learn, and our presence here proves our need for instruction. Every living creature here proves our need for instruction. Every living creature is struggling to break the strangling bonds of limitation—that pressing narrowness that inhabits vision and leaves life without an ideal. "Every soul is engaged in great work—the labor of personal liberation from the state of ignorance." - Manly P. Hall (18 March 1901 – 29 August 1990)

Joe Aguirre
